CLEMSON SMOTHERS
FLYING SQUADRONHarvin Runs Wild as Carolinians Push Over Five Touchdowns

Uncovering probably one of the most deceptive passing attacks seen in that neck of the country in years a roaring husky squad of Tigers from Clemson trampled a scrapping Flying Squadron from V. M. I. 32 to 0 at Norfolk, Virginia, Saturday. Passes were used often by both teams, but the Bengals were the most proficient in this art of attack completing four out of eight with two for touchdowns.

Welch and Justus, Tiger stars, were well covered most of the game, but broke loose several times for healthy gains. Harvin proved to be the deciding factor in the contest when he broke through V. M. I.'s forward bulwarks and sprinted 15 yards to tally the first score.

The Jungaleers made ten first downs to the Squadron's sixteen. The Tigers completed 4 out of 8 passes, while V. M. I. made 9 successful out of 19 attempts. Two Tiger aerial heaves resulted in scores. Long passes were Clemson's forte. Welch tossed some lengthy balls to both Woodruff and Jones.

An exchange of punts featured the opening of the game with the Tigers gaining on this kicking duel. Justus started the real fireworks about half way through the first period by trotting the ball 15 yards, to tote the pigskin to V. M. I.'s 36 yard line. Harvin plunged through for 3 more. Welch gained through the line. Harvin got 8 more through the line and another first down for Clemson. This placed the ball on the Squadron's 25-yard line. On the next play Welch failed to gain. A penalty cost the driving Tigers five yards when in their eagerness to score they charged a little too early. Welch then dropped back and tossed a neat pass to Harvin for 15 yards and another first down. Harvin on a quick play through the line ambled over the goal line to ring up Clemson's first tally. Harvin kicked goal. Score Clemson 7; V. M. I. 0.

V. M. I. came back strong and fighting, but their threat was short-lived under the weighty defensive of the Tiger forwards. Harvin popped another firecracker early in the second quarter by squirming and twisting 60 yards for another marker. The run was a brilliant piece of broken field running and sprinting. It was perhaps the prettiest play executed during the contest. Harvin kicked goal. Score: Clemson 14; V. M. I. 0.

Welch opened up to turn in the next long run by carrying the ball some 40 yards up the field to V. M. I.'s 20-yard line. The play was through the line. Repeated thrusts at V. M. I.'s line failed to make any appreciable headway, so Welch again took to the air. His pass to Jones was good and the Tigers annexed six more points. Harvin failed to kick the extra point. Score: Clemson 20; V. M. I. 0.

All the scoring for the first half was not over and when a flock of substitutes took the field to relieve the regulars, they started off on another touchdown drive. Miller did most of the ground gaining. With only a short time before the half ended, Miller completed a beautiful pass

CORPS PARADES FOR STATE LEGISLATORSInspection Made by Visitors of Barracks, Hospital, Library, Etc.

A regimental parade in honor of a group of South Carolina legislators was given by the corps of cadets on Bowman Field during the noon hour on Wednesday, November 5. The legislators present were: Senator Green of Spartanburg, Mr. Pearson of Spartanburg, Mr. Godfrey of Spartanburg, Mr. Parham of Dillon, Mr. Norton of Marion, and Senator Anderson of Horry county.

All the South Carolina legislators have been invited by Dr. Sikes to make an inspection of Clemson in four groups. The group here Wednesday and Thursday was the second, the first group having come a week earlier. The next group will come on the 12th and 13th of this month.

Beside the parade, numerous other activities were scheduled for the two days that the visitors were here. The program included, on Wednesday, a visit to each department of the college, inspection of barracks and kitchen, dinner in the cadet mess hall, cadet retreat, supper at the trustee house, and a visit to the president office where they were given an illustrated lecture by President E. W. Sikes, explaining the operation of the college. For Thursday the program included, breakfast at the trustee house, a visit to the various offices of administration, a visit to the hospital, to the college library, a visit to the textile department, and attendance of chapel at noon.

The legislators stayed in the trustee house while here.

MINARET CLUB HOLDS
INITIAL MEETINGThe Inevitable Captain Harcombe Comes to the Rescue with Sandwiches and Punch

Members of the Architectural Society got together on the evening of November 6 for the first meeting of the Minaret Club this session. Jimmie Dyess, president, took charge, and the program consisted of talks by members of the architectural faculty, readings by Wolfe, and current events in architectural development by John Durst. And each of these various contributions to the program was delivered with an earnestness that reflected the spirit of the members to make a success of the meeting.

Business matters next occupied the attention of the club, and a number of local matters came up for consideration, among them, the usual order Club emblems.

Bull and razzing took prominent parts in all open discussions, but, in general, the meeting accomplished its ends in a satisfactory manner.

Captain Harcombe contributed a large item in his sandwiches and punch. These were served to good advantage by the rats.

FACULTY MEMBERS
ATTEND CONFERENCEClemson Rrepresented by Dr.
E. W. Sikes, Dr. H. C.
Brearley, and Professor George H.
Edwards

Dr. E. W. Sikes, Dr. H. C. Brearley, and Professor Geo. H. Edwards represented Clemson College at the meeting of the Southern Regional Conference for Education last week, which was held at the University of North Carolina. Dr. Brearley, who did his post graduate work for the Ph.D. degree at that institution, read a paper on "Homicide in the South". These men all reported a most interesting meeting.

NEW INSTRUCTORS
ADDED TO FACULTY

The crowded conditions in the English and Mathematics divisions has made it necessary to increase the teaching force. Mr. Lawrence Hart, a graduate of Furman University, is now teaching two sections of Freshman English. Mr. Hart has had several years of experience in the public schools. He is taking special work at Clemson. Mrs. W. W. Fitzpatrick is teaching one section in mathematics. She is a graduate of the University of Kentucky and has had several years of experience as supply instructor at Clemson.

JUNIOR DANCE HEADS
SOCIAL CALENDAR

Battle of Music to be Feature

The Junior dancing club is now making plans for the Junior Dance which is to be November 21. The tentative program is to have a battle of music between two orchestras, which have not been selected as yet. This will be the first time this feature has been presented since the school year of '27-'28. There is to be a prize given to the best orchestra, therefore, the competition will be keen and the music good.

TICKETS FOR FURMAN
GAME ON SALE

Tickets for the Thanksgiving game with Furman University are now on sale in the Business Manager's Office. It looks like a sellout to the extent of about 11,000 people.

Student tickets will be issued through the company commanders at an early date.

Mail orders are being handled at the College and all those wishing tickets forwarded by mail should include the 15 cents registered mail fee. A large block of tickets on the Clemson side will also be placed on sale in Greenville for the convenience of those living in the city.

MERCHANT OF VENICE
RECEIVES PRAISELyceum Company Gives Very
Meritorious Presentation of Shakespearean Play

Real genius and a very high type of artistic ability were displayed Saturday night, Nov. 8 in the Clemson College Auditorium, when Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Pelletier and their Elizabethan layers presented "Taming of the Shrew" and the casket scene from "The Merchant of Venice."

"The Taming of the Shrew proved a real laughter provoking success, while the scene from "The Merchant of Venice" left the audience immensely impressed with the talent of the actors.

Both numbers were presented in true Elizabethan style that is, in the same style as in the time of Shakespeare. The costumes were true to the period of the action of the plays and were very effective.

Mr. Pelletier as "Petruchio" was superb, nothing was lacking in his excellent portrayal of the witty and humorously inclined husband. His supporting cast also deserved high praise for their excellent work.

Mr. and Mrs. Pelletier have had extensive experience in stage work, having supported some of the greatest stage celebrities, such as Will Rogers, Juila Marlow, E. H. Sothern, and Mrs. Fiske.

It is the wish of the crops that these actors visit Clemson again with a similar program.

PARROTT BYRD, CLASS OF '30,
ACCEPTS WORK IN CHINA

H. Parrott Byrd, who finished at Clemson with the class of 1930, has accepted a position with the Standard Oil Company of New York and is in the foreign service department. After his graduation last year, Byrd went to New York City, where he spent a few months in the home office in preparing for the foreign work. After spending a few days with his parents, he left for San Francisco. On October 24, he sailed from there for Hongkong, China.

Parrott Byrd is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Byrd of Georgetown, S. C.

BENGALS TO MEET
ALIGATORS SATURDAYClemson Eleven Faces Its Fifth
Conference Foe. Florida
Has Powerful Team

Following their rout of V. M. I.'s Flying Squadron, Josh's rambling Tigers move due south this week to Jacksonville where they will engage Charlie Bachman's Florida Gators in what is likely to be a premier tilt of the southern conference.

The Gators, thus far, seem to be having an in and out season, but if Red Bethea and his crew of stalwarts can get together they are likely to cause the Tigers many weary, bone-crushing moments, and leave the field with another game on the right side of the ledger. They seem to especially adapt at playing an ultra powerful game on every other Saturday, and if they still follow this vascillating type of play the Tigers are in for no end of trouble.

The Tigers, on the other hand, seem to have recovered from their attack of "fairitis", and the ignominy of defeat at the hands of Dodd and Co., and have smothered the Squadron under the largest avalanche of points scored against them in many years.

The victory conclusively indicated the versatility of the Tiger attack. The Cadets centered their attraction upon Welch and Justus, and then Harvin emerged from the state of semi-quiescence which has hovered about him in the past several games and dazzled the Virginians with his stellar performance.

The Florida tussle will be another acid for the Tigers. The Gators have lost two games. Furman nosed them out by a 14-13 victory, and Alabama trounced them more soundly last Saturday, 20-0. However, those defeats will mean nothing when they match strength with the Tigers next week.

A game between these teams resolves itself into a classic affair. Florida has been the victor for the past two years, but, according to Florida papers, the Tigers had decidedly the superior team. However, points and not players win the game, and the Tigers are out this year to avenge themselves for their past defeats.

The Gators have a veteran aggregation. Practically every man that started against 'Bama, started against the Tigers last year. Their forward wall is well night invulnerable. They thwarted Georgia at the goal line on four occasions when it seemed as if the Bulldogs were gong to score. That, in itself, is sufficient recommendation of their strength.

Luke Dorsett, punter and passes deluxe, will endeavor to show the home town folk that he is still as good as he used to be. Red Bethea, Al Rogers, Sauls, and Jenkins are the other offensive threats, and they present a problem to any defense. Rogers, Dorsett, Forsythe, at guard, Parnell and Proctor, at ends, are Juniors, while the rest of the starting lineup are seniors.

Josh Cody is priming for them, though, and when the starting whistle sound his Bengals will be playing football every minute in order to keep their Southern Conference record from being any further marred.

Yesterday marked the twelfth anniversary of the end of that world-wide catastrophe, the World War, which was supposed to have been fought to save democracy and to put an end to wars forever.

Whether these two objectives were really accomplished or not will be left for the future to decide. As matters stand now, it appears that, practically, we are no nearer world peace than we were before the war. Yet there can be no doubt that the war and the developments that have followed it have brought a greatly broadened realization of the uselessness and atrociousness of using wholesale murder as a method of settling an international disagreement. We admit that a permanent guarantee of world peace is still lacking, but now that the peace sentiment has become so firmly established it will be a difficult matter for the war-agitators to dislodge it.

Our observance of Armistice Day should be more in the light of a celebration of permanent peace rather than the celebration of our victory over Germany and her allies. It should be the occasion for the renewed dedication of the minds of citizens of this country and the rest of the world to the cause of peace. Of course we mustn't fail to cherish in our memories the brave deeds of our American soldiers, thousands of whom died in the service of this country. We shall always honor them and immortalize the memory of their courage and unwavering patriotism. But the war itself, with its blood-soaked battlefields and ravaged cities, and the debasing influence it exerted afterward upon our society as a whole—we want to forget all that, and just think of it as a terrible mistake that no civilized people will be so foolish as to make again.

ARMISTICE DAY OBSERVED HERE

Mr. Thornwell Haynes Addresses Student Body;
Lauds Work of Woodrow Wilson

With an address that reached the heart of everyone present, Mr. Thornwell Haynes, a noted journalist, speaker, and former member of the diplomatic service, brought back to everyone present in the Chapel Armistice Day poignantly keen memories of the World War and the signing of the Peace Treaty, twelve years ago, which brought such joy to a battle-weary world.

"Every Armistice Day since 1918," said Mr. Thornwell, the "newspapers have been full of praise for those who gave their lives in France that Democracy might not die, nation-wide radio hook-ups have broadcasted speeches of glowing praise in their honor—but America seems to have forgotten that stern old warrior Woodrow Wilson, the man who sent one million men across the ocean, the man who had a vision beyond the defeat of the Germans—who saw the America of the future a democracy with equal rights and happiness for everybody." And when November 11, 1918 came and the great struggle came to a close, he went across the ocean himself, where, at the great Peace conference, he made plans for a League of Nations that would do away with future wars. But, upon returning to this country, he was humiliated by not being supported by his countrymen in the fulfillment of these great plans. He died in humiliation, broken down as he was by the superhuman burdens he had borne during the war. Mr. Haynes stated that he did not believe that the great vision that was in the mind of Woodrow Wilson at the close of the World War would come to nought.

After this stirring address which brought back to the hearts of everyone present the great sacrifice that had been by all the men "over there", and by that great leader Woodrow Wilson over here, the college bugler blew a call which brought everyone in the chapel to attention; after which three salute volleys of shots were heard, followed by the beautiful strains of Taps.

TIGER RUMBLES

How do you do, Ma'm; and what do you think of this rumored special train to Jacksonville and of the more than two hundred boys that will ride it?

BARRACKS BULL

Football still occupies the majority of the conversational attention of the students, and perhaps this will continue to be so until after the Turkey Day Classic in Greenville. And perhaps we may add that the Tigers are conceding themselves an even chance to win over the Florida Alligators this week.

There are other prominent subjects also. Among them this week hard times has had an especially noticeable place, since this is the week that the quarterly payment came due. An indeed large number of the boys found it hard to meet.

And of course girls, studies, and other trivial matters provoke their usual share of discussion.

CAPTAIN P. H. KRON

Our congrats to the recently promoted Capt. Kron. We were not surprised at the promotion but were at the fact that he passed several days without his honor being generally known. As we look back, we find that tradition, custom, or what have you, have it that persons of Clemson who are fortunate or deservant enough to receive an advancement in rank are automatically sentenced to be present at an aquatic celebration, more generally termed a pooling. History has it that Capt. R. W. Johnson and Capt. P. G. Balcar were a few years ago victims of this custom.

VESPER SERVICE

Mr. George R. Koester, newspaper editor from Greenville, gave an interesting address to the students at Vesper Services Sunday evening, November 9, 1930.

In a calm, plain and unique manner Mr. Koester spoke on the subject of "Duty". The scripture was taken from Ephesians 6:10-19. The speaker stressed the words of Robert E. Lee, "Duty is the sublimest word in the English language".

Mr. Koester has been in the newspaper business forty-three years and has attained success in that field.

BOYS' DEPARTMENT

The Hi-Y and Boys Clubs enjoyed a Weinnie roast Saturday, November 8, at the old tunnel near Walhalla. The boys departed in the Y M C A bus and arrived at the tunnel on schedule time. All the fellows had a very enjoyable time and are looking forward to another trip in the near future. This is a mere beginning of an extensive social program. Much time is devoted to the devotional side of the organization; whereas due emphasis is stressed on the social side.

DEPUTATION TEAM

TO TOMASSA

The Clemson Deputation team composed of O. R. Smith, J. P. Littlejohn, G. A. Black, C. P. Hogarth, J. R. Cooper, V. A. Bauknight, Poag, Barnes, Shull and Smith presented a program to the D. A. R. students at Tomassa Sunday afternoon at three o'clock.

The team delivered its program very forcefully to the entire student body of girls and many visitors. Following the program, the cadets immediately returned to Clemson.

The program was as follows:

1. Selection by orchestra
2. Introduction—O. R. Smith
3. Selection by orchestra
4. Devotional—C. P. Hogarth
5. Prayer—J. R. Cooper
6. Response—V. A. Bauknight and Mrs. D. O. Louis
7. Talk—G. A. Black
8. Selection by orchestra
9. Talk—J. P. Littlejohn
10. Duet—O. R. Smith and J. R. Cooper.
11. Talk—J. R. Cooper
12. Solo—O. R. Smith
13. Benediction—G. A. Black.

SENIOR Y COUNCIL RETREAT

A retreat at Rock Bottom camp last week end, November 8 and 9, marked a high point in the spiritual and social development of the Senior Y Council.

Nine members, under the capable leadership of J. R. Cooper, arrived at the camp Saturday morning. The entire afternoon was devoted to an interesting and hard fought football game. The outstandign stars were Hugh McLaurin, Avery Burns, Roy Cooper and E. E. Epting. The game was called off on account of darkness.

To this task one is called by the needs of the world which press upon one from every side. There are the needs arising from the industrial system, with its tendency to exploit the underprivileged in slum and mining camp and to exploit the rich through false standards and unreal success. One sees these needs and others reflected in the lives of individual men, women and children, in their suffering from poverty, unemployment and disease, in their lack of opportunity, in their bewilderment about the world's meaning, in their stunted and monotonous when the ball was in midfield. Since each member of the team was so tired that they could hardly move, nothing sounded better than that last whistle.

Leon Clayton led an inspiring program around the camp fire Saturday night. On the completion of the program Avery Webb blew "Taps" and each member retired for the night.

A group hiked to the top of the highest mountain Sunday morning, and Sunday afternoon the Council returned to the college.

The Junior Council met at the home of Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Sikes' Friday evening, November 7, at seven o'clock.

A quorum of the council was present and enjoyed a talk by Dr. Sikes on "The Origin of Religion in America". Much discussion followed the talk and everyone showed great interest and enthusiasm. After the discussion Mrs. Sikes served a refreshing sweet course. The council enjoyed the meeting to the fullest extent and this meeting will go on records as an outstanding success.

SOPHOMORE COUNCIL

The "Hut" the at the Presbyterian church was the scene of a social for the Sophomore Council, Friday evening, November 7.

The Council enjoyed several hours of entertainment under the direction of the President of the Council and Mr. P. B. Holtzendorff. The business session was devoted to the discussion of plans for the ensuing year. The group disbanded with memories of a pleasant evening lingering in their minds.

What was that noise I heard in your husband's room last night?

Poor John had a dream that he was in his car in town and he was moving his bed from place to place so that he wouldn't be breaking the law by parking too long in one place.

Mr. Jones—I can.

GOAL!

FOURTH down! Seconds to play! Defending a slender one-point margin of victory, eleven husky bodies have valiantly repulsed three smashing attacks which have advanced the ball a scant foot to the fifteen-yard line. With success almost certainly within the defender's grasp, the field goal specialist drops far back behind his stalwart line. A crashing impact—a blur of rushing bodies—and his nimble foot sends the ball high between the goal posts for the winning points!

Shift this scene to a battle ground of modern business. The goal is an important contract... a substantial order for equipment or appliances. Salesmanship, backed by a product of established quality, plays its important part; but a Westinghouse representative is more than a salesman. The background of specialized engineering skill that enables him to serve his customers as a consultant in electrification is what supplies the necessary "punch" to win.

To many a younger college man with Westinghouse has come the opportunity to apply his talent toward the conclusion of a worthwhile transaction. The young men whose photographs appear on this page are but a few of the many who, with college only a few years behind them, are finding success with an organization offering such a variety of opportunities in the world's electrical work.

John Graves—Have you ever loved before.

She—No, John; I have often admired men for their strength, courage, good looks, and intelligence, but—you it is all love and nothing else.

Judge—Do you understand the nature of an oath, Mrs. Scruggs?

Mrs. Scruggs—Well my husband is a golfer, and my son drives a second-hand flivver.

Son—Why is that man running up and down the smoking car with his mouth wide open?

Father—My son, that is a Scotchman getting a free smoke.

Lady in a pet store—I like the dog, but his legs are too short.

Salesman—Too short, why Madam, they all four reach the floor.

Mother—Aren't you getting too big to play with the boys?

Mary—No, mother, the bigger I get, the better I like them.

Motorist—Is it very far to the next town?

Native—Well, it seems further than it is, but it ain't.

He—Aren't you wild about bathing beauties?

Second He—I don't know. I have never bathed one.

Fond Mother—Quiet darling, the sand man is coming.

Modern Child—O. K. ma, a dollar and I won't tell Pa.

Chauffer (after accident)—Are you hurt my boy?

Butcher Boy (excited)—No, but I can't find my liver.

Tootsie Mills—Don't you think that sheep are the most stupid creatures living?

Prof. Ritchie—Yes, my lamb.

Girls when they first went out to swim
Once dressed like mother Hubert;
Now they have a bolder whim,
They dress more like a cupboard.

Famous Explorer—On my last trip I bagged two large elephants.

Flapper—How thrilling. Did you have much trouble getting them into the bag.

Cat Fish Evans—I brought that pair of trousers to be reseated. You know I sit a lot.

Bleckley—Yes, and perhaps you brought that bill to be receipted. You know I have stood a lot.

I grade by the curve system, said the professor as he glanced at the row of beautiful co-eds in front of him.

Flapper Fan—Got a cigarette?
Shieky Dan—But I thought you came out in the garden with me to give me a kiss.

Flapper Fan—Yeah! but I'd better lay down a smoke screen first so nobody will see us.

Prisoner—The Judge sent me up here for the rest of my life.

Guard—Got any complaints to make?

Prisoner—Sure, I have. Do you call swinging a big iron hammer rest?

When a man says it hurts him to borrow money, you can be pretty sure he'll have to have an anaesthetic when it comes to paying it back.

Nora—I wonder what's become of the girl who used to cut off her nose to spite her face?

Harry—Oh, nowadays, she cuts off her no's to save her feet.

She—I want a pencil please.

Clerk—Hard or soft?

She—Soft, please, It's for writing a love letter

He—I envy the fat woman when she laughs.

Second He—Why.

He—There seems to be so much of her having a good time.

Daughter—Mother do you want me to put the parrot on the back porch.

Mother—Positively no, your father is repairing the car in the back yard.

Skinny Long—It's a dirty shame the way they pay athletes in this school.

Charlie Moss—Aren't you right. I'm not getting half of what I'm worth.

Lady—I want to buy a license gun.

Clerk—Very well, madam. Have you a license.

Lady—Certainly. Look it over.

Clerk—But madam, this is a marriage license.

Lady—Well, that's the reason I want the gun.

"This is food for reflection" said the billy goat as he hit the looking glass.

The fool who rocks the boat, is just drunk enough to think he is steadying it.

While giving a startling performance a magician spread a blanket over a newspaper and proceeded to read the paper through the heavy woolen cloth.

All the co-eds at the show got up and walked out.

In a recent trial of a bootlegger in Western Kentucky, a witness testified that he had purchased some "squirrel" whiskey from the defendant.

"Squirrel whiskey"? questioned the court.

"Yes, you know, the kind that makes you talk nutty and want to climb trees."

Women—The only sex which attaches more importance to what's on its head than to what's in it.

Mary—I believe in woman's rights.

Jane—Then you think every woman should have a vote?

Mary—No, but I think every woman should have a voter.

Teacher—How many zones has the earth?

Pupil—Five.

Teacher—Correct. Name them.

Pupil—Temperate zone, intemperate, canal, horrid and O—.

Daughter—See here dad, today is my birthday. Do you know how old I am?

Father—Lemme see; last year you were twenty one. I'll guess 19.

Boy—I've found a four leaf clover, dear.

Girl—That means that we will soon be married.

Boy—But I thought it meant good luck.

Central—Number, please.

Freshman—Number hell. I put in a nickel and I want my chewing gum.

Who broke your window?

My husband dearie, he ducked.

Policeman—I found them clutching one another, wrestling and fighting each other all over the road.

Prisoner—It isn't true your Honor. We weren't fighting at all when he grabbed us—we were trying to part each other.

She—You are the first man who has ever kissed me, dear.

He—I believe you, darling.

She—You are the first man who ever believed me.

Janitor, you could cool our apartment nicely if you would run ice water through the radiators.

Can't be done, M'am.

What did you have in them last winter?

Teacher—No, you mustn't smoke. Men who smoke too much tobacco get tobacco heart and people who drink too much coffee get coffee heart."

Pupil—If I eat a lot of sweet things will I get a sweetheart?

piece of my mind, John.

Wife—I'm going to give you a Henpecked John—Just a small helping, please, darling.

He—What shape is a kiss?

She—It's a lip-tickle.

CLUBS AND SOCIETIES

4-H CLUB

The college 4-H club held its regular meeting in "Lord" Collings' classroom Thursday night, November 6. I. D. Lewis, director of club work, gave an interesting account of exhibiting 4-H club projects at various fairs.

P. B. Anderson has been doing some extra work and is entering the contest for the Thomas Lipton trophy.

Carrol Brannon is working for the Moses Leadership trophy. Both these boys are members of the college 4-H club with excellent records, and deserve much credit for their undertakings.

The attendance was not up to par at the last meeting, but it is hoped that there will be a one hundred percent attendance next time.

GAMMA OMICRON SIGMA

Gamma Omicron Sigma met Monday night, November 3, and one of the most interesting meetings of the year conducted. A very interesting round table discussion on current economic topics was enjoyed.

Hoffman and Gunter gave talks on "One year with the Farm Board" and "Evolution of the cooperative market", respectively. Dr. Jensen, faculty member of the club gave a very interesting talk.

The officers for the year are: M. C. Rochester, president; L. E. Hendricks, vice-president; N. E. Watson, secretary and treasurer; and D. C. Hudgens, reporter.

Meetings are held every first and third Monday nights and all members are showing interest in the discussions.

ALPHA ZETA

The pledging of new members was the purpose of the meeting of Alpha Zeta held Thursday night, November 6. The following were voted and passed on as initiates: Seniors, W. J. Martin, and R. M. Jones; Juniors: B. D. Cloaninger, F. D. Cocohran, J. H. Dean, J. L. Hoffman, and J. E. Webb. G. W. Chavous, who was elected honor Sophomore during the last semester of last year, will also be installed with the new pledges at the initiation to be held on the night of November 21.

FIRST SERGEANTS CLUB

The first-sergeants of all the companies, including the Band and Drum and Bugle Corps, met Wednesday night and organized a First-Sergeants Club. The officers elected are as follows: G. H. Brigham, president; P. N. Calhoun, vice-president; H. S. Montgomery, secretary and treasurer.

Frank Lee, president of the club last year, presided over the meeting until the completion of the election, and then the new officers took charge.

The club is for the purpose of promoting fellowship among the "top-kicks", and to enable them to hold round-table discussions of their various duties. Plans are being made for several social meetings during the year, including a banquet in Starr sometime in the near future.

TAU BETA PI INITIATES

The fall initiation of new members into Tau Beta Pi was held at Riggs Hall on the evening of November 7. At this time eight Seniors, one Junior, and four faculty members were initiated as follows: Seniors: L. M. Allison, T. P. Anderson, G. H. Epting, T. H. Griffith, G. C. Hoffman, F. W. Lee, J. M. Mann, and J. S. Walker; Honor Junior, P. N. Calhoun; Faculty: C. M. Asbill, '25, Electrical Department, J. E. Hunter, '06, Mathematics Department, C. P. Philpot '28, Mechanical Department, and J. P. Littlejohn, '08, Business Manager of the college.

After initiation ceremonies were completed, the entire chapter of faculty members, student members, and initiates adjourned to Starr and enjoyed a banquet. Interesting talks were made by C. V. Rentz, toastmaster; J. L. Chapman, welcoming the new members; and L. M. Allison, who responded in behalf of the initiates. Professor Clarke gave a valuable address on "Habit of Success", which was followed by another of equal interest by Professor Rhodes on the meaning and value of engineering to mankind. The other faculty members present also made short interesting talks on various appropriate subjects.

Tau Beta Pi, the National Honorary Engineering Fraternity, limits its membership to the upper one fourth of the Senior engineering class, and admits the highest Junior at each fall initiation. All candidates scholastically eligible are carefully considered as to character and leadership before being voted to become members.

THE TASK OF THE CHRISTIAN

One is called upon to work and adventure with God for the realization of his kingdom in the world. To work for the Kingdom of God is to help people, one by one, enter into the reality of sonship to God and to strive for the control of all of life by faith in the worth of persons and by love which admits no barriers.

lives, in their widespread ignorance and indifference to the highest and most satisfying life. To meet these demands most effectively is the purpose by which one would have his life controlled.

The first step must be to learn the facts about society as it is, and, with our losing sight of the larger issues at stake in the life of society beyond, one must concern himself with the problems which appear on his campus.

In every college town there is one outstanding smoking tobacco

At Illinois it's

ALONG Green Street, where campus leaders stroll . . . in the great slate-roofed fraternity houses of Champaign . . . there is one pipe tobacco which always rolls up the biggest vote. At Illinois it's Edgeworth, every time.

A pipe—Edgeworth. That is the smoking combination which has won the college man. Harvard, Cornell, Michigan, Stanford, Dartmouth—all agree with Illinois. Natural merit has made Edgeworth the favorite tobacco in America's leading colleges and universities.

College men everywhere respond to the appeal of pipes—packed with cool, slow-burning Edgeworth. Be guided by their verdict: try Edgeworth yourself. Find it at your nearest tobacco shop—15¢ the tin. Or, for generous free sample, address: Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.

EDGEWORTH SMOKING TOBACCO

Edgeworth is a blend of fine old burleys, with its natural savor enhanced by Edgeworth's distinctive "eleventh process." Buy Edgeworth anywhere in two forms—"Ready-Rubbed" and "Plug Slice." All sizes, 15¢ pocket package to pound humidior tin.

Beyond the Kingdom of God comes only through the cooperation of those who work for it and because the fullest life with God can be found only in fellowship with others, one of the chief agencies through which one can best work is the church. A person must set himself to discover the true ideal for Christ's Church of the day and to help transform the existing churches into the nature of that ideal.

But this work in and through the Church is a part of the larger task, which is to work toward the realization of the Kingdom of God in the world. In giving himself to some definite part of this great common task his own life takes on new meaning and associations and local groups are vitalized. One must see himself, individually and collectively, as a part of the infinite purpose.

Codymen Face Florida Saturday

SPORTS

WILL THEY TAKE IT?

Slowly but surely the pigskine season is drawing to a close. The Tigers, having put up an excellent class of football to date, have only two more obstacles to hurdle. Josh and his clan have the opportunity to make what would probably be one of the best records compiled by a Clemson College football team in the last decade. Will they take it?

Time alone can tell. Alumni, students, and supporters will have the Tigers under close observation until after Turkey day, and drug store chatter and the hot stove league will wax warm as to the outcome of the ensuing conflicts.

V. M. I. SNUFFED OUT

Last week's prediction of "Watch Out V. M. I." certainly was well said. Pre-game dope, however, apparently did not intimidate the Virginians. The colorful cadets failed to realize the actual ferocity of Cody's Bengals, and when the smoke of the battle cleared away Josh's cohorts had won a ball game, and the Flying Squadron had the experience.

The Tigers were out to avenge their defeat at the hands of Tennessee, and also the 12-0 upset which the Virginians handed them last year. Whatever might have been their object they certainly performed an excellent task.

Th line opened up gapping holes in the V. M. I.'s forward wall, and worked with the precision that was lacking in the Tennessee tilt. With the fast charging line in front of them, the Tiger backs took advantage of their many opportunities and ran rough shod over their game but incapable opponents.

FLORIDA NEXT

Charlie Bechman's Florida Gators are scheduled as the next victim of the Tigers, and they are reputed to be a real tough proposition. They hold decisive decisions over Chicago and N. C. State, and held the powerful Georgia Bulldogs to a 0-0 score. However, the slogan "Watch out V. M. I." worked so nicely it might be well to adopt the same tactics against the Saurians. It will take more than any slogan to whip the Gators, but whatever it takes Josh and his men have it if they will only put it out.

They have an unbeatable combination when they function properly, and this is what they will have to do if they expect to overcome Bachman's strategians.

"Monk" Dorsett, who hails from Jacksonville, plays quarter for the Gators and handles the pigskin like a baseball. He is the keynote of their passing attack. He is also a punter of no little ability, and teams up with the sorrell thatched Bethea in advancing the ball by rushing. Bethea gained only 22 yards against Furman, what will the Tigers do to him?

TWO STRONG LINES

Both the Gators and the Tigers boast powerful lines, and the approaching game might resolve itself into a battle between these two forces. The weights are about even, but in the modern game this may or may not count very much. A 250 pound monster with a "charlie horse" between the ears is of little material benefit when afflicted in this way.

The Tiger linemen can play smart football when they want to, and this is what they will have to do against the Gators. They will have a duplicate their performance of the Carolina and V. M. I. games or else another contest goes on the red side of the ledger.

JOSH'S PROPHECY

Before the Clemson-Carolina game Josh Cody predicted that Billy Laval, the wily mentor of the Gamecocks, would smoke three packages of cigarettes during the state fair contest. It is somewhat doubtful if his prophecy was fulfilled on that day, but after watching Billy during Carolina-Furman game one is inclined to believe that Josh had his games mixed up. Carolina managers also report the loss of several sponges and a couple of water buckets—Billy was seen using them just before Bru Boineau broke his shoulder blade.

BOXING STARTS

During the football season one loses sight of the fact that it's almost time for the pugilists to resume their activities. Coach Joe Guyon is busy with his freshmen at this time, but the ambitious members of the squad will begin their limbering up exercises sometime this week in hope of being in good condition when the critical work begins.

The original boxing schedule was retracted after the turnover in the management of the athletic department, so it is difficult to say just what kind of competition the Tiger pugs will have. Then too, it has not definitely settled that the Tigers will be officially represented in this branch of athletics for the coming season. Financial disability has been given as the reason. However, if the books look good when a budget is made after football season, a team will be sent up against the best opposition available.

GRESSETTE'S MISFORTUNE

Carolina's stellar end and captain, Bob Gressette, was the object of a most unfortunate episode in the Carolina-Furman battle in Greenville last Saturday. Gressette had been playing a great game and had been receiving the plaudits of the crowd, but in the second quarter he evidently got his signals mixed up and allowed a pass which looked good for a touchdown to hit him on the back and fall untouched to the ground. If he had been aware of the presence of the ball, he undoubtedly would have had a touchdown and would have received even more praise for his speed and alertness. However, the unfortunate Gressette received neither. His play only served to show the fickleness of the American sports follower.

Cheers turned to jeers, and cries of "Take him out", "Whose that bonehead," could be heard everywhere. Gressette's situation was a pitiable one, a champion one minute and an "also ran" the next. American sportdom is full of similar predicaments. American sportdom is a ruthless, bloodthirsty, unsympathetic, commercial mob who only champion a winner. The Gamecock Captain is only one of many thousand who suffer the same ignominy every day of every week of every year of every century.

The plucky little cross-country team from Clemson held the ragging yellow jackets of Georgia Tech to the score of 17-28 Friday afternoon, November 7.

The run was sensational from the start until the finish. Tech took the lead and held their own until the finish. However, Captain Ellis, of Clemson, threatened at times, but his good run did not net first place for the Tigers.

The Clemson team is unexperienced and will see much hard work in the future to remedy all defects. This is the first meet of the year for the Tigers, and since the test has proven the ability of the team everyone will look toward the Tigers to return from Florida November 15, where they will meet the Gators, with laurels.

CLEMSON SMOTHERS FLYING SQUADRON

to Jones who was downed on the Squadron's one-yard line. Miller then bucked it over. His try for the extra point went wide. Score: Clemson 26; V. M. I. 0.

V. M. I. opened up a desperate aerial attack in the last half, but the Bengal secondaries seiked most of these for no gains. The Squadron was putting up a magnificent fight, but seemed baffled by the long pases of the Jungaleers. Welch ossed another long baffle from Clemson's 15 yard line to Woodruff on V. M. I.'s 45-yard line. Woodruff dashed across he goal line unimpeded. The try for point failed. Score: Clemson 32; V. M. I. 0.

Towards the last of the game the Squadron put up a frantic attempt to score against Tiger subs, but the latter held them for downs during this crucial moment and the score remained unchanged for the rest of the game. Several times the Cadets seemed well on the road to score. However, the weight of the Bengals told on their lighter opponents and V. M. I.'s last chance to score failed. Final score: Clemson 32; V. M. I. 0.

In this game the Yellow Peril lived up to its reputation and handed V. M. I. the worst defeat it has suffered in years. Clemson's bag of tricks contained variety enough to mistify its foes. Pases, line-bucks, and end runs were interspersed in the proper proportions. All in all the team was handled superbly and well. V. M. I.'s fight featured the game for them.

The line-up:

V. M. I.	Pos.	Clemson
Walker	LE.	Jones
James	LT.	Yarborough
Wooters	LG.	Moss
Shell	C.	Fordham
Tallman	RG.	Bowles
Hilliard	RT.	Davis
Gregory	RE.	Woodruff
Aughern	QB.	Welch
Wait	HB.	Justus
Bailey	HB.	Salley
Dunn	FB.	Harvin

Score by periods:

Clemson	7	19	6	0
V. M. I.	0	0	0	0

Touchdowns: Harvin (2), Miller, Jones, Woodruff.

Extra points: Harvin 2.

BY 4 P. M. their energy has gone. They listen to the lecture without paying real attention. Naturally the exam finds them unprepared.

Loss of energy, listlessness, lack of appetite are signs of constipation. This condition is a serious handicap to class and campus life.

Yet it can be overcome so easily, so pleasantly. Just eat a delicious cereal: Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Two tablespoonfuls daily are guaranteed to give relief. Ask that it be served at your fraternity house or campus restaurant.

The most popular ready-to-eat cereals served in the dining-rooms of American colleges, eating clubs and fraternities are made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. They include Kellogg's Corn Flakes, PEP Bran Flakes, Rice Krispies, Wheat Krumbles and Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit. Also Kaffee Hag Coffee—the coffee that lets you sleep.
